November - A Time For Remembering

November is a time for remembering. Memory sweeps up the scattered leaves of time and we forage through them to pick and choose the memories: the places, the events and especially the people who have shaped and formed us and who drift into our consciousness at this time of the year. Simply walking along a road, driving a car or pottering around the house and suddenly the leaves of yesteryear blow into a heap in front of us and memory takes over. It's natural to remember and it's part of that nature to remember the dead because they are part of what we are. They have shaped us and formed us and we are what we are because of what they have been. Part of that remembering is prayer: Masses and prayers for the Holy Souls, recollecting in the presence of God the thoughts that accompany our remembering of the dead. And visiting the cemetery - there's something about a cemetery in November. It's not just that the graves are easier to tidy - it's something to do with the dampness, the cold and the atmosphere. Part of the traditional religious experience of November is collecting 'the November Envelope' from the Church and writing down the names of our dead. It's both a reassuring and discomfiting task. The very act of writing down the names of our loved ones reminds us both of the finality of it all and the promise it holds. Where they have gone, one day we will follow. Some day someone will stand at our graves; someday someone will write our names in their list of the November dead. For all of us this November, the leaves of time will be swept by memory into the small and great heaps that give birth to our remembering.

Let us therefore remember, lest we forget.

Responsorial Psalm: 30th Sunday in Ordinary Time

'What marvels the Lord worked for us!

Indeed we were glad'
